8/8 Shireburn Arms Hotel and former stable block adjoining at right angles to the east

GV II

Hotel, probably mid C18th. Sandstone rubble with slate roof. 2 storeys, 5 bays. Windows sashed with rebated and chamfered surrounds. Door, in 3rd bay, has plain stone surround. Bay 5 possibly added, being set back slightly beyond quoins. Chimney on left-hand gable and on each side of central 3 bays. At the rear is a window with plain stone surround and semi-circular head with keystone, lighting a landing. The former stable block, running northwards at the east end of the main building, has a stone slate roof and is of 2 storeys. Its windows are modern with plain reveals and projecting sills, with one on each side of a plain stone door surround on each floor. At the south end of the facade is a blocked doorway, with a later projection above linking it with the main hotel. At the far north of the facade is a flight of external stone steps to a 1st floor doorway now with a modern porch.
